Some important points came out of this.

- We need to re look a the software as at present it can't cope with this format
- If we are to used the same number of controls as this again we need to be aware that the older type of dibber doesn't record enough visits as it has limited memory.
- However the course did mean we could put on a long course in a small area, Andy Ellis did 7.25km around Marl Pits. So it would be a shame to use less controls.
